

Danger_Hills

Home to a number of kobold and orc villages. The people who built the western hill fort didn't look hard enough to find them. Or those who did, didn't report back. The Strike village is home to Orcs, a former human village. Death is a kobold village, also a former human village.

These two former human towns were destroyed and taken over by humanoids some years before the half-elves came into this area.