

Kyooz Meadow (Scuaine-Moneir)

This hamlet primarily produces beef and pork (and bacon of course) and various poultry products- especially fantastic eggs for the whole community of Druidhome. It is pronounced as in Q's Meadow. It also produces barley, mainly for bread, not booze.

Important people

Eldest Druid: Wiverniel Salasios, a powerful elven druid; full of life which he enjoys to the full – beer, maidens and lusty ballads. Wiverniel has been here from the first settlement, 127 years ago and is now 267 years of age.

Healer: Suzanti Rodintiel, a very organised (and organising) elf who loves finding out more about diseases – even doing autopsies on her deceased patients and other animals. She has a wealth of medical knowledge which she has annotated in her ‘Ars Medica’ volumes kept in her abode. Some wonder if perhaps her patients are not as well cared for as they should, since she has this morbid interest in autopsies. However, she swears she is pure as the driven snow, and any other opinions are fake news.

Eigsan Baicoïn is in charge of the smokehouse where jerky and bacon and ham are produced. He is given to swearing in a most colourful way, but despite his gruffness, he is still a rather likeable halfelf. No prizes for knowing his favourite breakfast.

Important sites

Their sacred site for all weekly rituals in the Keystone, a ring of ten close-set stones surrounding a huge rock engraved with spiral motives, all atop a flat elf-built mound. Under the mound are the burial rooms for any Eldest Druid, but none have needed it yet.

I have pictured it in Summer, the season where most of the smokehouse work is done.