

Malajuri's northern hook is sparsely populated with a mountain range filled with swirling pools of turquoise waters, and overgrown jungles. Mostly tribal humanoids, kobolds, lizardfolk, dragonkin, goblins, orcs and even dragons live among the dense wildlands. Conversely, the southern hook is populated by the goodly races of elves, dwarves, humans, halflings and gnomes and offer safe harbor among their walled and closely guarded settlements.