

Strife, an orc village.

This place had towers, a manor house, and several now unknown buildings. A bit better well off. That didn't save them.

remains/ruins of the mayor's house and the village market are still mostly intact. One thatched hut kept, most likely by the leader. A few stone remains. Fires, wood piles, a cage, cauldrons.

This was once a thriving community of humans who fished in the river, and tried to grow crops in this desolate land.