

Port Therlu

Port Therlu is a small dark elf port on an island on the Bottomless Sea of Bronzu in the Darklands. Its economy is based on the sale and trade of fungal products. Cultivated fields of fungi spread to the southeast of the village and a forest of giant fungi grows to the east. Port Therlu is a military village, governed by the Rani Aknuh Seinda and her loyal militia. There is a large black market in Port Therlu, trading everything from weapons and magical potions to shanghaied slaves. The inn and taverns of Port Therlu are frequented by numerous races, as it is a busy port. It is not unusual to find dark dwarves, goblins and even giants in Port Therlu. Humans are very rare and are valuable on the black market as slaves.